

LIGUORI ACADEMY COHORTS

Launching September 2020!

Unlike other high schools, Liguori combines career readiness and college readiness, by pairing rigorous academics with career development workshops and cohorts.

In addition to the core curriculum, each student has the opportunity to choose a cohort of study. Each cohort includes a group of elective classes for students to learn and develop skills related to their interests. Through their selected cohort, students will be able to enjoy electives, master content, participate in internships, and in some cases, earn certifications.

Liguori currently offers three cohorts:

-  The Arts
-  Trades & Construction
-  Technology

Pathways in The Arts:

- Culinary
- Writing
- Sounds & Music Production
- Game Design
- Multimedia & Digital Design

Pathways in Trades & Construction:

FAQs

How is this different than a Career and Technical Education (CTE) School?

Unlike a CTE school, Liguori Academy provides each student with a comprehensive core curriculum. Upon graduation, students are qualified and ready to pursue various paths in life without being limited by their course work in high school. Their choices are BOUNDLESS.

What are the benefits of this program?

Through our cohorts, students will develop essential work skills and have access to experiences that will help them determine what path to choose after graduation.

What if a student wanted to switch the cohort they selected?

The cohort program is meant to be flexible and is not intended to restrict a student. Should a student wish to change their track, they can work with our Academic Director to make necessary changes.

Are the internships paid?

Yes, students who participate in an internship will be paid accordingly.

Why are there only 3 cohorts?

Cohorts were developed based on Liguori's current partnerships, and future job projections.
